

BRIDE THINKS SHE WILL WIN BACK HUSBAND

Says Parents of Young Carleton Are Satisfied With His Marriage.

(Special to The Evening World.)
NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 25.—Ethel Thompson, of No. 11-2 College street, who was married to William Dean Carleton, son of W. F. Carleton, a wealthy New Yorker, residing at the Hotel Maletic, made a statement today when asked about her young husband, who was taken away by his parents immediately after the marriage ceremony.

"My husband," she said, "is in New York, but intends to leave on Monday to attend college at Boulder, Col. His father and mother are both satisfied with his marriage, and the decision that he should attend college was made simply because all concerned realized that it was for the best. For the present I shall remain in New Haven, but at the completion of my husband's college course we are to reside at Boulder."

Miss Thompson was asked if any plans had been made whereby she would see her husband before his graduation.

"No time to make plans," she replied. "My husband decided to go away so suddenly that I am not positive just when we are to meet again. I am pretty sure that he will return to this city during vacation time to see me."

Miss Thompson explained that she had met young Carleton's parents, and that they were very kind to her and showed her every consideration.

"They were rather angry at his having married before getting through with school," she added, "but were in no way inconsiderate toward me."

The marriage of Miss Thompson and Carleton took place at the East Haven parsonage on Saturday. They were married by the Rev. D. J. Clark, and the ages given in the license showed the bride to be eighteen and the bridegroom, twenty-two.

Miss Thompson met Carleton last year while he was taking a private course at the Booth Preparatory school.

The young couple were in each other's company to a considerable extent, and when young Carleton returned during the latter part of August, after a trip abroad, they became engaged. The engagement was kept secret and confidential, and the marriage on Saturday.

Carleton was living in Freshman Row, York street, and was to have entered the Academic department of Yale.

Tried to Stop Marriage.
According to a statement made by a friend of the bride, the boy's father received a phone message on Saturday afternoon from some one connected with the school at which the boy was being tutored telling him that his son contemplated marriage, and that he had better come to this city if he cared to interfere. It was stated that the young man was really less than eighteen years of age.

Fate seemed entirely with the young couple. They had procured a marriage license when the police started in on the case for East Haven. On the way the auto broke down, and as it could not be repaired immediately, the police decided to go by car. The trolley cars were put out of commission Saturday by a storm, and the result was that the police were again frustrated, arriving at the scene an hour after the ceremony had been performed. Young Carleton was brought back to town and hurried away to New York by his father.

MASSAPEQUA TO BE A PORT TOWN
Property Owners Organize to Frame Bill Which Congress Will Pass.

An association of property owners and residents, to be known as the Massapequa Board of Trade, was organized at Massapequa last night, having for its main object the widening and deepening by the United States Government of a sea channel leading from Jones Inlet through the Great South Bay and the Great Island Channel to the Merrick road at Massapequa.

This improvement is of the greatest importance to the south side of the island, as it will provide a direct shipping and docking center, which will afford an outlet at this point to the ocean for the surrounding country and will, of course, make Massapequa the most important shipping point on Long Island east of New York.

The residents there and of surrounding villages are very enthusiastic over the building of this great waterway, as, in addition to creating a new and great industry at Massapequa, it will give a tremendous impetus to the development of this place and the residents of the south side, as well as on coal, ice and like commodities, will be considerably benefited.

The following officers were elected: Andrew J. Cona, President; George Stanton, Vice-President; First Vice-President, Thomas Rhoderick; Second Vice-President, George F. Haight; Third Vice-President, Alfred W. Seaman; Secretary, E. V. Condit; Treasurer, Executive Committee: William Rohr, Thomas H. Fraser, Theodore William, J. D. De Kromen and Joseph Dowd.

The next meeting of the Board of Trade will take place Friday evening in the assembly room of the Massapequa Hotel, when matters of great importance in regard to the bill to be passed by Congress at the coming session will be taken up.

It is expected that Congressman Cox of Nassau County, will be present at this meeting.

PRICE OF MILK TO BE ADVANCED
On Oct. 1 the price of cream and high grade milk will be advanced two and three cents respectively. Joseph Baumeister, Secretary of the Milk Exchange, says that the scarcity of ice makes the advance necessary.

"I'LL HAUNT HER," SAID DYING WOMAN

Dressmaker Testifies to Terror of Miss Walworth at Will Contest.

(Special to The Evening World.)
ROCHESTER, N. Y., Sept. 25.—"She's got all. I'll haunt her! I'll haunt her! I'll haunt her!" In the testimony of Mrs. Karle, a modiste, in the Surrogate's court yesterday in the hearing in the Wadsworth will contest was this expression credited to the dying woman, Elsie M. Wadsworth. This was after Mrs. Wadsworth had made a will in favor of Mrs. Anna M. Sweeney, wife of the proprietor of the Hotel Victoria, N. Y.

Further testimony of a sensational nature was adduced.

Miss Wadsworth died in the City Hospital last March, leaving $5,000 to Mrs. Sweeney. The contestants are Frank M. Wadsworth, of Gerard, Pa., a cousin, and Stella Wadsworth, adopted daughter of the decedent's brother, William Wadsworth.

Christina Bauman, who said she had been an intimate friend of the testatrix, and called on her every day at the hospital for several weeks, testified that Mrs. Sweeney was always there, and the sick woman appeared to be afraid of her.

"She begged me to take her away from there," said the witness. "On the day after the will was made Miss Wadsworth said to me, when I called to see her, 'Oh, Mrs. Bauman, have you made me a will?'"

"I did," said Mrs. Sweeney, said Miss Wadsworth, pointing to the door. "Now I'll have to die. She said she was doped all the time."

Mrs. Karle said that she called upon Miss Wadsworth a short time before she died and asked her if she knew her. "She said she did and then asked me, 'Why didn't you take me out of here when I wanted you to?'"

Then she said, "She's got all, but I'll haunt her. I'll haunt her!" I said to her, "Oh, Miss Wadsworth, don't say that. I will, I will," she said.

"I told Mrs. Sweeney about it and she said, 'Oh, she doesn't know what she's saying.'"

Witness testified that Mrs. Sweeney had told the sick woman that she wouldn't come back to haunt her, because "When God takes you from this life to rest He won't let you come back again."

Witness said she noticed a diamond ring belonging to Miss Wadsworth, and the next time she called at the hospital she found the ring.

PRICE OF MILK TO BE ADVANCED
On Oct. 1 the price of cream and high grade milk will be advanced two and three cents respectively. Joseph Baumeister, Secretary of the Milk Exchange, says that the scarcity of ice makes the advance necessary.

Mrs. Sweeney had it in her pocketbook. "Said she was going to keep it," the witness stated.

At the Hotel Victoria this morning it was said that Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney are in Buffalo.

LIME BLINDS OLD MAN.

Vito Damal Loses Eyesight and Son is Badly Burned.

One man will be blind and another scarred for life as the result of an accident today on the fourth floor of a new building in course of construction at Lewis and Livingston streets. The victims are Vito Damal, sixty-five years old, of No. 540 Grand street, and his son Michael, aged twenty-eight.

The two were carrying loads of lime across fifty feet of boarding, the floor not having yet been laid, when they crashed through. Their fall was broken on the third floor by Barney Golden, a plasterer, of No. 34 East Seventy-eighth street, on whom both landed. The tips got into the old man's eyes, and at Governor's Hospital it was said he would lose his sight. The young man was burned on the face and head.

These three rooms solve the "Home of Your Own" problem. They cost you complete $150. of value for $10 each required, and a small monthly payment of $8. You have full and free use of the furniture while paying for it.

We wish to give you an idea of three rooms furnished tastefully, yet at a moderate expense. You need not take our judgment in the matter of furnishing, for we are able to fit up your flat at a much less price than you wish to spend money, we can furnish it as elaborately as you wish.
